ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, March 26 (INS)—Allied forces now are engaged in the "final defeat of Germany," an official statement from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters said today.

"It will be a bitter struggle but victory is inevitable," the statement said.

LONDON, March 26 (INS)—Troops of the United States First Army, bursting out of the Remagen bridgehead have pressed 19 miles east of the Rhine, a battle-front dispatch disclosed today.

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—A German military spokesman said today that "fighting is going on outside Karlsruhe," possibly indicating a crossing of the Rhine by the U. S. Seventh Army.

LONDON, March 26 (INS)—Fear that Germany's western front "may be completely broken," was expressed in a broadcast today by Guenther Weber, DNB frontline broadcaster.

Patton Still Plunges On; 1st, 9th in Gain

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, March 26 (AP) — The American Third Army closed within six miles of Frankfurt-on-the-Main today and sent its tanks racing through broken German lines on the flat central German plains within 250 miles of the Russian lines.

(The Stockholm Albana del's Bern correspondent said Allied troops entered Frankfurt shortly after midnight Sunday morning. He said the Allied troops found the city with a before-war population of 547,000, virtually deserted.)

The First Army to the north exploited another breakthrough of decaying German defenses comparable to the victory at St. Lo, advancing three miles nearer Berlin overnight from the Remagen-Bonn sector. A dozen villages fell.

The American Ninth Army advanced five miles deeper into the rubble heap of the Ruhr past outflanked Duisburg deepening its lower Rhine front to at least 10 miles.

The British Second Army with at least one famous Canadian division pushed 10 miles east of the Rhine on the flat Westphalian plains.

More than 80 miles of the east Rhine banks were firmly in Allied hands. The final campaign to crush Germany was rolling up massive victories all the way from Wesel to below Frankfurt.

Nowhere was the bewildered and severely bled Wehrmacht able to check the mighty tide of more than 1,250,000 shock troops Gen. Eisenhower had massed on the Western Front for the final battle.

Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army made new crossings of the upper Rhine. He has seven bridgeheads. The main river, which flows through Frankfurt, was crossed on a captured bridge at Aschaffenburg and reached at two other points, eight miles southwest of Frankfurt and two miles east of Mainz.

The Third Army was more than 40 miles behind the Rhine and running ahead, unchecked, within 235 miles of Berlin.

Germaners were surrendering by the thousands. The 21st Army Group in the north, engaging the bulk and best of the 60 or so undersized German divisions in the west, has taken more than 10,000 captives. The total Third Army bag bulged with many more than 300,000 since D-Day. The First Army took 3147 yesterday alone.

Supreme headquarters said 248,882 Germans had surrendered since March 1; upwards of 60,000 more had been killed or wounded seriously.

Essen, home of Hermann Goering and the seven-times-rebuilt Krupp munitions works, was 10 miles or less from surging Ninth Army columns.

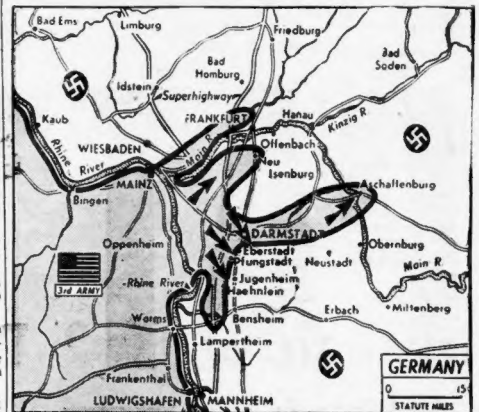

The hollow heart of Germany was exposed. The staggered enemy army, deprived of more than 300,000 effectives in the west alone this month, had neither the force nor the mobility to recover from the multiple blows Eisenhower was raining in increasing stringency.

Final victory was in the air and in the songs of infantrymen riding eastward on clanking tanks and every conceivable conveyance.

In the north from the suburbs of Duisburg to north of captured Rees, the cross-Rhine front carved by Montgomery's American Ninth, British Second and Allied First Airborne armies was solid, 31 miles or more wide along the Rhine and at least 10 miles deep.

The great superhighway to Berlin north of Duisburg was cut in at least three places.

THIRD ARMY FRONT—Free wheeling armored units of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s Third Army are today reported rolling unchecked on both sides of the Main river to outflank Frankfurt-on-the-Main while other units have swept to Aschaffenburg and are reported over a river bridge there. Another spearhead has swung south along the Rhine and is headed toward Mannheim.

Patton's Troops Now Boast He'll Be First to Hit Berlin

By PIERRE J. HUSS

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY INSIDE GERMANY, March 26 (INS)—Great chunks of Hitler's war machine blew apart today under impact of the Third Army's surge.

It appears Lt. Gen. Patton's breaking storm may soon engulf the remainder of the wehrmacht in disaster.

Distances like 250 to 300 miles cross-country are regarded by the rough-riding Patton as something to take a chance upon, particularly in Berlin or the end of the war beckons.

The rank and file around this smoking battlefield boastfully voice the opinion that "Old Blood and Guts" is "going to wind up this show in a hurry and grab Berlin first."

German civilians and captured soldiers indicate that inside Germany the name of Patton is a sort of nightmare.

The Germans are amazed. They don't know how to act. Civilians stand around and gape at the Allied might.

White flags are evident everywhere. German prisoners walk in long lines toward Rhine assembly points. Homeless Germans wander back to relief camps as do thousands of Russian, Polish, French, Belgian, Czech and Luxembourg nationals.

The roads are jammed with troops, thus giving the spectator the rare picture of confused Europe on the move in all directions.

Cripples, factory workers, youngsters from 14 years up and morons are a common sight among the captives.

SS fanatics captured still are pigheaded and arrogant. Some brazenly give the Hitler salute. All of them refuse to admit the war lost.

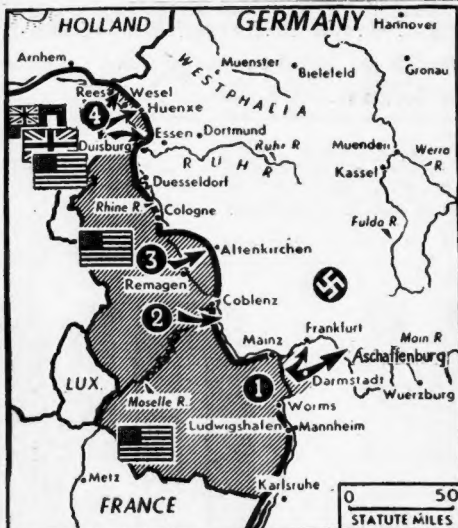

Nazi Air Force Grounded But at Heavy Cost to U. S.

ROME, March 26 (AP) — Lt. about 20,000, therefore during the year this aerial arm lost the equivalent of 100 per cent of its total fighting personnel.

"We take some consolation from the knowledge that these losses have saved many thousands of ground soldiers," he added.

Nazi Patrols Active in Italy

ROME, March 26 (AP)—German patrolling became more aggressive along the Fifth Army front in Italy today and there were a number of sharp clashes, particularly in the area southwest of Bologna.

WESTERN FRONT—Allied armies today plunged roughly into Germany, shouting, "On to Berlin." U. S. Third Army troops (1) pushed almost into Frankfurt-on-the-Main after crossing the Main river, while other units of that same army (2) crossed the Rhine south of Coblenz. The U. S. First Army (3) dashed forward from their Remagen bridgehead clear to Altenkirchen, with the Allied armies to the north (4), comprising the U. S. Ninth and the British and Canadians, driving 10 miles further into Nazi land. Shaded area is all Allied-held. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Gloom Sweeps Germany But Gestapo Holds Reins

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower's great Rhine offensive has plunged the German people into the deepest gloom, dispatches from neutral European capitals said today, but there seemed general agreement that it still is too early to look for a complete collapse of the German home front.

Advices from Bern said the comparative ease with which the Allied armies swept across the Rhine had started the greatest wave of defeatism and despair yet recorded in Germany.

These dispatches emphasized, however, that even though the German people apparently have lost all hope, their fear of the Gestapo still is so great that any immediate uprising to oust the Nazis and bring a quick peace seems unlikely.

Similar views were expressed by Christer Jaederlund, veteran Swedish newspaper correspondent who has just returned to Stockholm from Berlin.

Jaederlund indicated the German people were dispirited and heartily sick of the war, but added: "The first signs of a real collapse of the Nazi food system will cause more panic in the Reich than the worst military defeat."

The Germans now associate the duration of the war with the food supply.

There were hints the first break on the German home front may develop in Austria. Swiss frontier reports said opposition to the Nazis appeared to be increasing in Austria and leaflets had been secretly circulated in Vienna urging anti-Nazi demonstrations.

Von Model Hurt; Shift Nazi Heads

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—A German underground report today said Field Marshal Walther von Model, commander of the northern group of armies on the Western Front, had been wounded by a bomb.

The report said von Model's injury necessitated the quick switch of Marshal Kesselring from Italy to take charge of the Western Front when Von Rundstedt was removed.

Coupled with this report was another which said sharp differences between various air force chiefs and the Nazi high command had culminated in removal of an air force marshal and two generals, reported to be Field Marshal Baron Wolfram von Richthofen, cousin of the famous World War I ace, who had been in charge of air force armament; Maj. Gen. Gen. Deichmann, air chief in Italy, and Lt. Gen. Fiedler, air chief in the Balkans and Hungary.

A similar report concerning Von Richthofen came from neutral capitals.

RYUKYUS INVADED, SAYS TOKYO—The Ryukyu Islands, 365 miles south of the Japanese home island of Kyushu, have been invaded by American troops, supported by a tremendous fleet of aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers and destroyers, according to an unconfirmed Japanese Domei news dispatch. The Japanese agency claimed the landings began near Okinawa, main island of the group, preceded by a terrific Navy and aerial bombardment. B-29s smashed the Mitsubishi aircraft engine factory near Nagoya over the week-end with demolition and incendiary bombs.

Two Russian armies already had overrun four-fifths of Hungary below the Danube and their spearhead was within 36 miles of the Austrian border and 77 miles southeast of Vienna.

Berlin broadcasts said a new assault had been sprung north of the Danube in Slovakia, while Marshal Konev's First Ukrainian Army group continued to grind through the Moravian mountains north of Vienna.

The newest attack, described in Berlin as an "all-out offensive," was started on the lower reaches of the Hron river in Slovakia at 4 a. m., yesterday, a German broadcast said, and a bridgehead over the Hron was gained at Leva, 50 miles northwest of Budapest and 37 miles northeast of Komorn, the Danube river key to Bratislava.

Marshal Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army linked up with the Second Ukrainian Army under Marshal Malinovsky in a drive that swept along a 90-mile front through Hungary with gains up to 16 miles.

Severely mauled, the Germans fell back into well-fortified defenses in the Gyor area, and all signs pointed to the stubborn kind of opposition forming before the Soviet armies driving close to Bratislava.

The initial phases of the fresh offensive along the south bank of the Danube northwest of Budapest had carried 28 miles through the Tugh Bakony forest and Vertes mountains under conditions made worse by a well-advanced spring thaw.

Vienna was within 77 miles of the Russian armies and there was much evidence at hand that the Austrian capital was going to be as desperately defended as Berlin.

The Japanese invasion report said seaborne Yanks struck at Toka and Aka islands, 15 miles west of Okinawa, major island of the Ryukyu chain.

Japanese propagandists said the islands were being attacked as springboards for an assault on Japan proper, 350 miles to the northeast. If true, the action represents a departure from the recent practice of heavy and lengthy pre-invasion bombardments.

Adm. Nimitz announced the Ryukyus were shelled by 16-inch guns of America's most modern battleships Friday and Saturday while carrier planes swept over half a dozen islands, centering attacks on Okinawa. Tokyo said 38 warships and innumerable auxiliaries made up the carrier and bombardment force southwest of Okinawa.

Seaborne planes reached to the northern tip of the Ryukyus, where they wiped out an eightship convoy consisting of three cargo vessels and five escorting warcraft.

Three other Jap vessels were damaged off the northern Ryukyus and the Bonins by naval search planes presumably operating from newly-conquered Iwo.

Fourteen more were destroyed or damaged off the China coast by the Philippines-based bombers. Fighter-escorted Liberators from the Philippines destroyed the Jitsugetsu hydro-electric plant supplying two-thirds of the war industries on southern Formosa, including two aluminum plants supplying 15 per cent of Japan's aluminum.

The Japanese radio reported the first raid by Nipponese planes on

Lake Tells How Patton Made Drive

By AUSTEN LAKE

THIRD ARMY'S RHINE BRIDGEHEAD—The Allied command has lifted a corner of its screen of silence on the trans-Rhine bridgehead to give a glimpse of the most important assault operation since the original D-Day landing in Normandy.

What is important is that the initial assault and the expansion of the bridgehead assure strong forces engaged in this operation of a permanent foothold, a base for growing power thrusts toward the enemy's heart.

It clearly took the German command by surprise since reports from the lines show that we are meeting with scattered and, in most cases, confused resistance.

The situation at this neck of the Rhine, which is officially located "somewhere between Mainz and Worms," is exact parallel with post-D-Day conditions which faced the German defenders of Normandy. They apparently feared to commit their strength to seal off one crossing lest another and another develop at other spots. It was just such doubt and delay that cost the Reich its greatest opportunity to smother the Allied landing above Cherbourg last June.

Commanding officers of this operation believe the German army has been so harassed and drained of manpower in Gen. Patton's recent drive that we are in position to be boldly aggressive. The trumps are all ours.

I watched the concentrated flow of men and materials moving along the Rhineland arteries today with all military conventions and precautions thrown into the discard. Trucks, armor and troop-carrying vehicles made no pretense at keeping 60-yard intervals. They travelled bumper to bumper, sometimes in double lines.

Everything was moving forward, and what little traffic came back were empties returning for reloads. That such jam-packed masses could flout the laws of modern convoy travel was due to our domination of the skies where a lid of fighter planes constantly patrolled the area.

As a demonstration of combined might, it was a belated lesson to Germany's ignorance of what our so-called merchant nation could do.

This is land, sea and air operations, in which even the U. S. Navy contributed a prominent part—first time our sea force has been called on to co-operate in an inland foot soldier attack 200 miles from the sea. Much of the initial crossings of the Rhine before the bridge now in operation was built and capable of supporting heavy tanks and mobile engineering equipment were effected by portable LCPV's (landing craft vehicle personnel) and LCM's (landing craft mechanized) which had been practicing secretly in France or Belgium for this second D-Day.

To veteran observers like the writer, accustomed to enormous land juggernauts seen on every road in the wake of assault operations, it was an eye-filling sight to watch these 77-foot LCM's being piggybacked along roads that were sometimes half deep in mud and often shell pitted.

Perhaps the command did not know exactly where they could launch this crossing until a few hours before it happened.

They merely knew that opportunity would come, and machinery was lumbered into position, inching along behind the advance.

That it was ready when the crossing chance came means shortening the war by many months and saving many soldier lives.

Our troops are fanning out with "calculated" speed, and the wound in Germany's vitals is already deep. Interrogation of prisoners seeping back in numbers, many of them captured while asleep in their town billets, shows that the Nazi command was confident in its false security that our Army would follow its past habit of pausing at an objective to reorganize supplies and regroup divisions according to military "book."

High ranking German prisoners have scoffed more than once at American military caution and "play safe" tactics which have failed to exploit Nazi disorder. Patton, they agreed, they feared as an unpredictable, aggressive general willing to improvise even at a risk. They are proven right.

Our casualties at this early phase are amazingly light—I think "negligible" is the official word—but while I was at the beachhead the only traffic coming back across the river was carrying men to aid stations set up efficiently to make secondary dressings and evacuate them to field hospitals. Ambulances take priority over all back-bound traffic.

Springboard bases on the near side were a veritable city of supply dumps, waiting apparatus and concentrations of men. The effect was like moving and establishing a city the size of Quincy within a matter of hours.

War with all of its horrors also has its magnificences. This is one, but let optimistic America realize that though this is a stunning blow among many others so to come, it is not a knock-out.

Back Bay Blood Donor Meets Hero She Saved

Mrs. Audrey Woodward of Newbury st., Back Bay, 23-year-old wife of a naval ensign, shook hands figuratively with a pint of her own blood today.

A member of the Gallon Club of the Red Cross blood donor center, she was enabled to see at first hand a living example of what her donations have meant when she was introduced to PFC Richard C. Harvey, 22, of Bay State ave., Somerville, a First Infantry Division hero.

Harvey was given a transfusion of whole blood, donated by Mrs. Woodward, when he underwent an operation at an English hospital last September.

"This is the girl I want to meet. She saved my life," exclaimed Harvey with a wide grin as he stepped toward her with hand outstretched.

"I want to meet you, too," she said as she grasped his hand. "This is the most exciting thing that ever has happened to me."

Harvey was given the transfusion, less than a week after the blood was donated in Boston, when he underwent an operation necessitated by the aggravation in Normandy of an old injury he had suffered in Tunisia.

The youthful soldier has won the Silver Star for gallantry in Tunisia and also wears two presidential unit citations as well as the fourragere awarded his division by the Free French for heroism in the African campaign. He is the son of S-Sgt. Charles A. Harvey, veteran of World War I, now stationed with the air force at Westover Field.

KATHARINE CORNELL, "FLUSH," AND LAURA JOHNSON
Star Discusses USO Show With Martha's Vineyard Chairman

Cornell Credits Her USO Tour to Friend

By ALICE HISSELL

Miss Laura Johnson—she says they all know her age down at the Vineyard, and who else cares?—came to the Ritz today to visit her close friend, Katharine Cornell, before the great actress left for her New York opening of "The Barretts of Wimpole St."

Miss Johnson, who has always lived on Martha's Vineyard, is a clerk at the Railway Express Agency at Vineyard Sound, and is chairman of the island's three USO clubs.

And today Miss Cornell told how a Saturday night jamboree at Miss Johnson's little USO club at Vineyard Sound was the inspiration for her tour over the battlefronts of Europe with the love story of the Brownings, which warmed the hearts of thousands of our weary boys.

"I first saw at the Vineyard what the USO club gave to the servicemen, and five of us who performed at the jamboree were in the overseas troupe, sent by the American Theater Wing and sponsored by the USO," said Miss Cornell.

"Yes, and the money she raised that night for us has kept the club going ever since," interrupted Miss Johnson.

"Do you remember? It was the first time I ever sang a song on the stage? I sang 'It's a Lovely, Lazy Kind of Day,' the actress reminisced.

"Every day's that kind of day at Martha's Vineyard," said Miss Johnson.

That is why Miss Cornell is returning to her home this summer for her first vacation in nearly two years.

"The first thing I ever did for the USO was at Martha's Vineyard, and now I shall return to talk with the boys there, now that I understand and have shared some of their suffering," Miss Cornell said.

Meanwhile, the actress said she was considering taking a show to the Pacific after her vacation.

"We proved, our troupe of 17, that we were ammunition. We proved that the GI likes good stuff. The GI is everybody. He needs music and dancers, and he needed 'The Barretts.' It was a bridge of warmth in a warm, home setting, with not even modern dress that would remind him of today, when today is war."

"Gee, Miss Cornell, it reminded me of home," the battle-sick soldiers would say to her.

"What more can we do, anywhere, than bring a couple of hours of home to them?" she asked.

Dr. Bruening Brands Red Claims Nonsense

Dr. Heinrich Bruening, former chancellor of Germany, now professor of government at Harvard University, today branded as "utter nonsense" the charge emanating from Moscow.

The charge was made by Ilya Ehrenburg in an article in the Soviet newspaper Pravda, who described Dr. Bruening as "the Fuehrer of German Catholics."

Dr. Bruening, chancellor of Germany from March, 1930, to May, 1932, staunch Catholic and avowed foe of Hitler, was reluctant to comment.

"Because of my position, I find it advisable to refrain from commenting on political matters," Dr. Bruening said, "but from beginning to end this is utter nonsense."

Insisting he had no intention of returning to Germany, Dr. Bruening disclosed that he had been attacked previously by Russian commentators but this was the first time the Associated Press had carried the stories.

He said that when he first came to the United States he reached an agreement with newspapermen that he would say nothing about affairs in Germany. He added, however, that since Ehrenburg had attacked others, he felt he was in good company.

Dr. Bruening also said there would be a new kind of propaganda after the war, and that Ehrenburg's article might be some sort of example.

Rev. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., of Weston College, described the article as "pure calumny."

"In East Prussia," Ehrenburg wrote, "I met a catholic vicar who explained a plan to create 'a strong Catholic German power.' Other priests spoke of the same thing. 'The salvation of German imperialism has been turned over to the Catholic center. The Fuehrer of German Catholics, Bruening, now living in the United States, has spoken, now that the route of Zhukov and Eisenhower has become clear. In articles for German social democratic newspapers he speaks about the past but thinks about the future. He puts forth his candidacy as the heir of Hitler.'

WASHINGTON, March 26 (INS)—Cecil De Mille, Hollywood producer, who sacrificed a $2000-a-week radio contract rather than pay a $1 assessment into a union's political action fund, called on the new House committee on un-American activities to investigate "the encroachment by certain unions" upon the guaranteed rights and liberties of American citizens.

"No agency or organization, be it state, federal, executive, legislative, judicial or unofficial should be beyond the scope of the committee," De Mille declared.

State and town police joined jail guards in scouring the area for the men, both "short-termers."

Kills Nephews, Shoots 2 Kin, Ends Life

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP)—Richard Stakenas, 31, fatally wounded his two nephews, one dying early today, seriously wounded his sister-in-law and niece, and then killed himself last night in his brother's home, police reported.

Police said no one in the family could assign a motive for the shootings.

WLB RULES JEWELRY PAY
Wage adjustments made by any employer in the New England jewelry manufacturing industry hereafter will be subject to WLB laws, regardless of the number of persons employed, the WLB announced today.

Bloodhounds Hunt Firebug

NORTHAMPTON, March 26—Bloodhounds were pressed into service by State and local police today in a widening search for Walter Baraniuk, 24, believed to have set five destructive fires since his escape from the Northampton State Hospital during the week-end.

The hounds headed into surrounding woodlands after taking a scent from clothing of the escaped man found in the hospital.

Also taking part in the wide-spread search were civilian possees and State guards-men, who hunted through the woods and kept watch over adjacent farms.

Baraniuk, believed to have been wearing only a bathrobe, escaped by picking the lock of a wire shutter and then smashing a heavy wire grille with his bare hands.

His escape was discovered when hospital attendants found a dummy in his bed. State Police immediately assigned eight patrol cars to the search for the six-foot, 200-pounder, described by hospital officials as "innocent looking."

A few hours after his escape, the barn of Baraniuk's father, Stephen, in Southampton, was destroyed by fire and 58 head of cattle burned to death. The Baraniuk home, a hay barn and milk shed also were set afire. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

While firemen were fighting this blaze another fire was discovered in a barn of Louis Schenost, a mile away in Westfield. Three cows and three horses were destroyed but 80 head of cattle were rescued.

An inmate of the State Hospital several times since 1938, Baraniuk was last committed Jan. 27 after several of Schenost's cattle were found mutilated.

Perkins May Ask Coal Pact Extension

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Perkins is expected to try to stave off a possible nationwide soft coal strike by appealing this week for a 30-day extension.

The current wage agreement expires Saturday night, and negotiations between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and bituminous operators, which began March 1, have stalled.

"TIPPERARY" SPONSOR DIES
BLACKPOOL, Eng., March 26 (AP)—Bert Feldman, 70, music publisher who presented "Tipperary" and many other famous songs, died last night.

INJURED IN FALL—Injured when she fell down a cliff at a California beach resort, Barbara Hale, film starlet, is recovering today from the near fatal accident. She is confined to her Hollywood home.

Burned-Out Flock Seeks New Home

Made homeless by a two-alarm fire that gutted their house on Witawaumet rd., North Weymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacBain and their four children today were seeking a new home.

Wakened by the smell of smoke, the father carried his crippled son, Donald, 7, over a flaming staircase to safety, shouting to his wife to awaken the other children. Mrs. MacBain followed with Robert, 1½, and Carol, 2½, in her arms and Malcolm, 6, clinging to her nightdress.

State Police Halting All Poultry Trucks

State police today opened a drive on poultry black markets, halting all trucks transporting poultry and compelling drivers to produce bills of sale as evidence their loads were in legitimate commerce.

The primary object, it was explained, is to "get more chicken on the table." Under state law, anyone transporting poultry must have in his possession a bill of sale showing the size of his load and the sale price per pound.

Maj. Gen. Rupertus Of Marines Dies

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William H. Rupertus, 55, of the U. S. Marine Corps, who commanded the First Marine Division in the Solomon Islands campaign, died suddenly last night at the Washington Navy Yard.

Size, Please!

OMAHA, Neb., March 26 (AP)—Don B. Woodyard, manager of a department store, received an unsigned letter containing two $1 bills. The note read:

"The enclosed cash is for a playset. The clerks were busy."

"I DO" FOR SECOND TIME—Actor John Carradine, 38, and Sonia Sorel, 21, are wed in Hollywood's Immanuel Presbyterian Church, where his son by a former marriage, John, 8, present under a court order, serves as ring-bearer and Arlene Whorwood acts as flower girl. The actor and the bride were married last fall at Las Vegas, Nev., after he obtained a Mexican divorce from Ardelle Carradine.

Rhine

the center of the 360-mile active front was at least 35 miles wide and 19 deep and in effect clamped the great arsenal, which is the Ruhr basin, into a vise with the 21st Army Group to the north.

Elements of the First and Third were barely six miles apart in the Coblenz area. Much of Patton's maneuvers were shielded in a security blackout which kept the reeling Germans confused. Darmstadt, industrial rail center of 115,526, was the largest city captured by the Third yesterday. The famed old university of city of Heidelberg was outflanked and ripe for capture.

A light rain splattered the front this morning, neither bad enough to interfere seriously with the armored onslaught nor to cancel out the aerial battering of foemen fleeing through blazing villages and cities behind the lines.

At least six armies had been identified fighting beyond the Rhine and a high percentage of these were striking with armored power, growing hourly across numerous Rhine pontoon bridges.

Dispatches give this view, from north to south, of the various fronts beyond the Rhine:

Canadians on the lower Rhine captured Eupen, four miles northwest of Rees, and advanced a quarter-mile beyond. A Canadian parachute battalion dropped into Westphalia, apparently with the U. S. 17th Division and the British Sixth Airborne, now linked with ground troops.

The British cleared the old walled town of Rees and took Speldrop to the north. A spearhead of Scottish troops gouged across the super-highway five miles east of Wesel and fought in places ten miles beyond the river.

The whole lower Rhine bridgehead was expanded in all directions. The British 15th Division crossed the Rees-Hamminkeln military highway. Resistance stiffened a bit from German reserves. The Issel river was bridged in at least six places. Traffic was crossing the Rhine in volumes exceeding schedules. Groin fell after a savage battle. So did Haffen and Mehr.

The 30th (Old Hickory) Division of the Ninth Army made a 10-mile penetration of the Ruhr, capturing Bruckhausen and Hunze.

The Ninth Army, commanded by Lt. Gen. Simpson, also cut the Berlin superhighway. The 79th 79th division, on the right of the 30th, pushed three miles, took Heisfeld and went two and a half beyond the town. The 79th was also fighting bitterly in Wehoven, northeast suburb of Duisburg, a vast inland port of 431,000, roughly as large as Cincinnati. That was the only place where German tanks opposed the Ninth Army.

Hodges' First Army smashed down the only real counter-attack in force yet mustered east of the Rhine and burst out to the east in the rolling hills with two forces of armor.

The First Army fought toward Siegen, industrial center of 32,000 some 240 miles southwest of Berlin. The greatest penetration was made by an armored column which crashed through a Nazi defensive crust to Erfeld, 11 miles southeast of Hennes and 20-odd miles from Siegen.

Resistance appeared lessening on the entire First Army front. The First Division beat down several counter-blows at Biorth and advanced more than a mile to near Busch. Elsewhere, the Germans were retreating. One tank column in darkness reached Berghausen, 14 miles northeast of Linz.

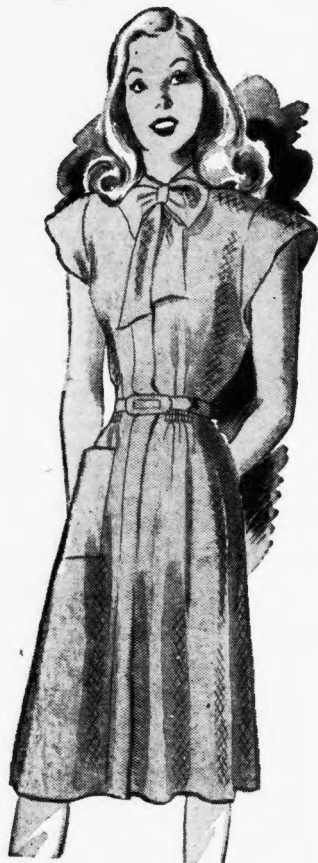

Ninth Division troops in the center were slowed by bad terrain but cleared Altenburg and Peterslahr, northeast of Linz.

One armored column lanced southeastward and reached Vellendar, three miles northeast of Coblenz. Meinborn, Isenkorg, Stromberg and Nauert were captured. Grenzhausen was entered. Willroth, Oberraden and Mederraden. The 99th Division drove over two miles along canalized roads in the rocky hills near Urbach, 13 miles east of Linz. It cleared Patton's army entered six miles from Frankfurt, and reached the Walldorf vicinity.

Feeding Reich Seen U. S. Task

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The United States may be faced with the main burden of feeding most of occupied Germany.

This was reported authoritatively today by officials who said there is no intention of pampering the Germans, neither is it planned to let them starve.

The southern part of Germany, which U. S. forces will occupy, normally has been self-sufficient. However, the flood of refugees pouring in from both west and east is estimated at 10,000,000.

Japan

Two "since its fall into enemy hands."

The unconfirmed dispatch said raiders dropped "all their bomb loads on enemy positions" yesterday, causing fires and explosions at many points.

Jap ground troops in central China advanced as much as 25 miles along a 90-mile front while their comrades in Burma and the Philippines suffered further reverses. One Jap column seized Ichang, 145 miles northwest of Hankow and only 25 miles from a U. S. air base.

British forces captured six towns in central Burma.

Six Jap counterattacks were repulsed by the U. S. 25th and 33d divisions on northern Luzon island in the Philippines while the First Cavalry began a drive toward the heretofore untouched southern arm of Luzon.

Cebu, in the central Philippines, was heavily bombed for the sixth consecutive day, possibly in preparation for another invasion.

Japan's vast "people's volunteer army" being mobilized to meet the critical war situation will include "graduates of the elementary school of the national school who are over 14 years of age, men below 60 and women younger than 45," Tokyo radio said today.

(This report clarifies earlier Jap broadcasts that all students past the first grade would be mobilized—the first grade probably meaning elementary school.)

The purpose of the volunteer army, the Domei broadcast said, will be to "attend projects requiring urgent attention in defense against enemy air and land attacks, in reconstruction of areas hit by air raids... the transportation of essential materials, and to increase food production as well as the production of lumber."

Mill Strike Vote Recall Studied

More than 50,000 New England textile workers were considering today a request by their CIO leaders to withdraw their vote of two weeks ago, in which they asked for the right to take a strike vote under the Smith-Connolly Act. The workers want a five-cents-an-hour pay raise.

Mariano S. Bishop, northern cotton director of the textile workers, union said the locals are expected to withdraw their requests for a strike vote.

National officers of the CIO, however, are empowered to re-institute the strike vote request on a 21-hour notice if a strike is determined to be necessary. The textile workers were released from their no-strike pledge Feb. 20 following the attempt of the War Manpower Commission to draft New Bedford workers for the Fisk and Firestone tire cord factories.

Price of 13 Foods Rises 92 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, March 26
(INS)—Charges that food prices have skyrocketed to consumers were substantiated today by disclosure that costs of 13 major food items, including meat, butter and eggs, have increased an average of 92 per cent in 12 years.

Regardless of confusing government and labor statistics on the cost of living, a comparison of newspaper advertisements of a large group of stores for March, 1933, and March, 1945, showed clearly how times have changed for the housewife's market basket.

Twelve years ago this month, the housewife could buy a pound of butter for 21 cents. Today, if there is any in stock, she can purchase it for 48 cents a pound — plus 24 red ration points.

Eggs were 29 cents a dozen in 1933 for Grade A's and 19 cents for B's. Currently the prices are 49 and 45.

Connecticut Priests Protest Yalta Pact

MERIDAN, Ct., March 26 (AP)—Thirty-four priests of the Roman Catholic diocese of Connecticut have signed a resolution condemning the Yalta agreement affecting the eastern boundaries of Poland, the Rev. John J. Sobolewski, administrator of St. Stanislaus Church, has revealed.

Copies have been sent to the President, United States delegates to the San Francisco conference, State Department and Connecticut members of Congress.

Last Day Appeal For Red Cross

More than $300,000 is still needed today from Greater Boston residents if the 1945 Red Cross War Fund is to go over the top, officials announced today, last day of the campaign.

Officials said the unprecedented appeal for War Fund support made yesterday by Archbishop Cushing, Bishop Sherrill, Gov. Tobin, Mayor Kerrigan and other religious, civic and State leaders resulted in pledges and gifts of thousands of dollars although the exact amount has not yet been figured.

"However, the War Fund still needs a tremendous outpouring of gifts from every man, woman and child if it is to reach its $1,192,600 quota," Phillips Ketchum, general chairman, asserted.

Special telephone facilities by which persons can make their donations direct to War Fund headquarters was extended throughout today and a battery of telephone girls was ready to accept calls until 5 p. m. The special phone number is Kenmore 6226.

Facilities have also been made for the receiving of late donations made in person at the tenth floor of War Fund headquarters, 301 Milk st., or at most of the Boston banks.

A final roundup dinner will be held at Hotel Statler ballroom tonight at 7, at which time the final reports from leaders of every unit in the $1,192,600 campaign will be made. Ketchum will preside.

New Tire Priorities Reshuffled by OPA

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A priority list of occupations governing distribution of the limited supply of new passenger tires to eligible motorists was announced by the OPA.

Drawn up with the help of the War Manpower Commission, the list covers all "B" and "C" card drivers but rates them in four groups, with respect to their essentiality to the war effort.

This preferential rating is necessary, OPA explained, because of the sharp reduction in the allocation of new tires for rationing. The April quota is 1,000,000 casings, a 37 per cent cut from the 1,600,000 made available this month.

The first priority group is limited almost entirely to persons whose occupations are of an emergency nature, and to workers at "must" war plants. Included are physicians, public health nurses, police, and war workers such as those producing urgently needed aircraft and munitions — projects facing a critical manpower shortage.

These plants will be designated after consultation with local WMC officials, OPA said.

In Group 2 are persons employed in other essential plants and those whose occupations are highly important to the war effort. Examples are farmers, farm workers and representatives of management, labor and government who recruit labor for essential establishments.

Group 3 covers such motorists as buyers for essential establishments and those who travel to such places to perform necessary technical services.

Group 4 takes in all other "B" and "C" drivers.

OPA stressed that each individual tire applicant must continue to establish his need for a tire even though rated in a high preference group.

Measure Hints Delay In Philippine Freedom

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Legislation based on the premise that the Philippine commonwealth may not now be ready for independence was expected to be written into a deficiency appropriation bill today.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Tydings (D.) of Maryland would provide $80,000 for salaries and expenses of a high commissioner to the Philippines and technical assistants who would survey the economic situation there and report quarterly.

Seek Lawrence G. For Mother's Funeral

Army, Red Cross and police officials today were making a combined effort to locate PFC Raymond Hoffman of Holly st., Lawrence, in time to bring him home for the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Frank G. Hoffman, 58, who died Thursday at Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

Unaware of his mother's illness and death, the soldier was reported en route by auto from Ft. McEllan, Ala., to Sheppard Field, Tex.

More Schools To Pick Orators

More than a dozen brilliant student orators, the pick of Boston's public and parochial high schools, have won the elimination contests within their respective schools and stand forth now to vie for honors in the local finals in the James Monroe Oratorical Contest, to be held in Faneuil Hall April 10.

The competition, sponsored by the Hearst newspapers, is now entering its final phases and more than 40 high schools and 10 colleges in the Greater Boston area, are expected to have entrants selected by midnight, April 3, the deadline set by the Contest Editor.

The contest, being held in 13 key cities throughout the country, is sponsored locally by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

Movie Strikers Say Battle 90 P. C. Won

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (AP)—The leader of the movie studio strike claimed today "The battle is 90 per cent won."

Herbert K. Sorrell, president of the conference of studio unions, told 3000 strikers last night, "We're going to stand fast and get an unconditional surrender rather than a negotiated peace." A spokesman for the producers said production was going ahead at a fairly good pace.

Victory Gardens To Set Record

Victory gardens in Boston are expected to reach a new record this year, judging by the number of applications for plots being received by the Boston Victory Garden Committee at 33 Beacon st., it was announced today.

There are approximately 3000 available plots in city-owned garden areas, and already close to 2000 requests have been received.

Park Commr. Long, director of the victory garden program, believes the threatened food shortage may be the reason for the great demand.

"With the warnings of meat shortages, people may supplement their menus with additional vegetables, fresh in the summer and fall, canned for the winter," Long said.

Have You Been too Busy to REMEMBER EYESTRAIN?

The war has changed our lives. We all have new duties — extra responsibilities.
And too often we forget some of the important rules of everyday living...how to prevent eyestrain, for example...how to protect children whose precious eyes are endangered by improper habits of reading or studying.

We forget that four college students in ten have defective eyesight.

Let's remember these four rules for conserving eyesight:

1. Do all reading, studying, sewing, game playing close to a good reading lamp.

2. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your book or work. Shadows strain eyes.

4. Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I haven't heard from my son overseas since August, 1944. Would you please inform me where I can write to get definite information? He was writing me at least once a week up to the time letters stopped coming.

C. A. F., Lexington.

A—Seems as though something has happened since you last heard from your son. Advise you to write immediately to Adjutant General, U. S. A., Washington 25, D. C., and explain the details. Give your son's last address and serial number. You might also seek aid through local Red Cross chapter or congressman from your district.

Q—On June 22, 1944, I was given a discharge from the Army under Section 5, due to dependency. Local draft board has classified me 2-A. Other honorably discharged veterans have been placed in 1-C. Shouldn't same classification apply in my case.

M. I., Cambridge.

A—Your problem may be solved by consulting your draft board officials and explaining the case.

Q—How long can the Army keep a man overseas? Is it true that non-combatant soldiers are excluded from the furlough rotation plan?

S. C., Peabody.

A—Army may keep men overseas as long as desired. There is no limitation of a man is needed on his job. Non-combatant soldiers are eligible to receive furloughs but they depend entirely on circumstances and are left to the discretion of commanding officers.

Q—My son was killed in action on Guam. Since he was 3 years old he has lived with his father's relatives. At age of 19 he joined the Army and I signed papers granting permission. He wrote and told me he had named me as next-of-kin, but recently I learned that insurance payments are being made to the cousin he lived with. Is she eligible to collect insurance or should payments be made to me as his mother? Also, could I get his personal belongings such as watch, fountain pen and other articles which I gave him from time to time? I would also like to know where he is buried and details of how he met death?

A—Your son may name you as next of kin, but that does not signify you are entitled to insurance.

ance. He had the privilege of naming the cousin, providing such relative is considered his loco parentis (having reared him from childhood). However, as mother of a dead soldier, you are entitled to information. I suggest you write Adjutant General's Office, U. S. A., Washington 25, D. C. Regarding his personal effects, communicate with Effects Quartermaster, U. S. Army, Kansas City, Mo.

Q—What veterans are eligible for training under the Vocational Training Program?

A. S., Quincy.

A—An honorably discharged veteran with service connected disability of 10% or more, with employability lost by virtue of a handicap due to a service-incurred disability. He may apply for training under Public Law 16.

TIME TO DISCORGE

SEN. W. LEE O'DANIEL of Texas has demanded that the Federal Government render to Congress an accounting of itself in what has become one of its biggest and most ominous roles—that of the largest landowner within the borders of the country.

The Senator has introduced a resolution which has been referred to the Senate Committee on Public Lands and Surveys and which reads as follows:

"Resolved, that the Attorney General is hereby directed to submit at the first practicable date a report showing the amount and location of all real property owned by the United States, in each of the several States, including the price and values of each tract of land and also the price of improvements thereon."

Senator O'Daniel's action recalls the fact that nearly two years ago the Byrd Committee made an investigation of Federal land ownership and was unable to procure all the facts.

The Byrd Committee then said:

"No one knows how much land the Government owns, where it is, or how much it cost."

Such facts as the Byrd Committee did obtain, however, resulted in several startling disclosures.

"The Government," Senator Byrd reported, "now owns ONE-FIFTH of all the land area of the United States."

"This area totals 383,600,533 acres—equal in size to the COMBINED AREAS of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Ohio, Alabama, Kentucky and Indiana . . ."

"The Federal Government owns over 78 per cent of Nevada, 68 per cent of Utah, 60 per cent of Idaho, 45 per cent of Wyoming, 44 per cent of Oregon, 42 per cent of Arizona and 41 per cent of California . . ."

"Until June, 1940, this land with improvements cost the United States over five billion dollars."

PART OF the land, the Byrd Committee explained, was in the "public domain" and part of it represented purchases for temporary war purposes of some 17,000,000 acres.

One of the reasons why the Byrd Committee went into the question was the increasing danger to State sovereignty and to the solvency of small communities caused by huge Federal land acquisitions.

As to this the Committee said:

"Naturally, as the Government acquires more and more property, THE TAX LOAD ON THE LOCAL TAXPAYERS DIRECTLY INCREASES."

The Committee found MORE THAN SIXTY "FEDERAL ESTABLISHMENTS" all having equal power to acquire land, with no central office or policy to govern or even to record the activities, and with no orderly procedure for the return of unnecessary Federal holdings to private ownership and to local tax rolls.

Accordingly, the Committee recommended in 1938 that "the Government agencies begin IMMEDIATELY to liquidate surplus holdings in land and real estate which are NOT NEEDED for Federal activities," and that a "central unit" be designated in "an already existing government agency" to regulate the Federal land-owning operations.

NOTHING CAME of the Byrd Committee's inquiries.

The need for correction is greater now than ever before.

Perhaps Senator O'Daniel's resolution will be the occasion for action at last.

For it is obvious that State and local governments can be reduced to impotency, or can even be obliterated altogether, if the Federal Government pursues an unlimited policy of feudalistic land ownership.

"Tis not the frost that freezes me,
Nor blowing snows inclemency,
'Tis not the cold that makes me cry
But my love's heart grown cold to me,
But had I wist, before I kissed,
That love had been so ill to win,
I'd locked my heart in a case of gold
And pinned it with a silver pin."
—JAMIE DOUGLAS.

THE RICHEST columnist in the world is the Nizam of Hyderabad. He writes a column for the principal newspaper of his domain. All his subjects are urged to read it. What cruelty! An outstanding example of "man's inhumanity to man," which Bobbie Burns rightly said "makes countless thousands mourn." The Nizam strikes me as being the kind of fellow who would punish his wife by locking her in a room with a thousand new hats and no mirror. Incidentally, the Nizam has over 400 wives. At last reports he had an annual income of thirty-five million dollars and no income tax to pay. He also has two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold, two billion dollars in jewels and 400 automobiles. When he isn't writing a column he writes poetry. His subjects read that, too.

SIDEGLITS: "I guess you are not afraid of anything," an admirer said to heavyweight champion Joe Louis. "Oh, yes I am," answered Joe. "I'm afraid of lightning and dentists." What I liked about the film "Janie" was that it closed fast and had a smash finish. That is the way a film should finish. Too many of them slowly expire something like a dying swan . . . Sauerkraut should be given another name. Then more people would undoubtedly order it in restaurants. It would do them a lot of good, being excellent for the system in general.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Am asked the rules of "Cribbage Pool." Never heard of it. Only kind of pool we played at Louie's Pool-room, 49th st. and Third ave., Brooklyn, was straight pool, bottle pool and Chicago pool . . . Asked what he would like to do after Gen. Eisenhower said: "I want to put on slacks and lie down on the banks of a lazy Texas river with a fishing line tied to my big toe and the hook baited for catfish. If the fish bite I will wake up. But I hope they don't bite."

PASSING BY: Myrna Loy, the girl with the Mona Lisa smile, made her film debut in 1925. Her first real hit was in the first Thin Man picture with William Powell in 1934. Recently asked if she expected to marry again Miss Loy said: "No more marriage. Twice was enough." I have a box of stogies to bet that by this time in 1947 Myrna will be married again.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Please decide an argument a couple of sergeants are having. What is the plural of mongoose? A—It is mongooses. Many have been puzzled about this. One man sending an order to an animal shop first wrote: "Send me two mongooses." He didn't like the way that looked. So he wrote: "Send me two mongooses." That didn't look right to him, either. So he wrote: "Send me a mongoose. And, by the way, send me another." Q—Do you think it right for a wife to go through her husband's pockets? A—Depends upon what she is looking for. If the only way she can get any spending money is by searching her husband's pockets she should get a job or a new husband. However, a Chicago judge once stated in making a decision that a wife is entitled to keep one-third of the money she finds in her husband's pockets.

FIGURES: To better serve the female population in the postwar period, dress manufacturers have been studying the figure measurements of the WACS, WAVES, SPARS and Marines Women Reserve Corps. The conclusion reached is that the female figure varies so much that more dress sizes are necessary. So goes the report. Very interesting. But what else did the statistics reveal? In which of the branches of our female armed forces are found the girls with the best figures? Are there more perfect 36s in the WAVES than in the WACS? Are there more Venus type girls in the SPARS than the Marine Women's Reserve? It seems the lady Marines should demand this angle be given some publicity. It has been alleged on several occasions the female Marines are above the average in the matter of plumpness. If the aforementioned statistics reveal that such is not the case the public should know.

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction Prohibited)

WASHINGTON, March 26—I wish Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas of California would stay around her office long enough to answer a couple of questions, because there is something I must ask her or bust.

I've just got to ask if she has been blabbing to the male Congressmen from California about what the females of her State are currently not wearing under their outer habiliments!

If the curvaceous Mrs. Douglas has not been tattling, then all I've got to say is that the male members of the California delegation are pretty darn precocious for Congressmen. They know things that I am not any too sure members of the masculine sex should have at their fingertips.

It might not be so bad if they would just keep this esoteric, or inside, information to themselves, but they go around flaunting it. They sign statements—and send them, of all places, to the War Production Board!

That's the part that really gets me. Personally, I can think of no outfit I'd be less inclined to trust with a girlish secret of such delicacy than the WPB.

Imagine a young doll going up to Cap Krug and whispering in his calloused ear that beneath her outer covering—nothing!—Nothing at all!

IF YOU HAVE any doubts about the facts in this case, let me say that I am reading from Page A-1417 of the Congressional Record. It carries copies of two letters which the Californians sent to WPB Boss Krug and Dr. William Y. Elliott, WPB's Director of Civilian Requirements.

The missives are signed by Representatives Douglas, Jerry Voorhis, Chet Holifield, Ellis E. Patterson, Carl Hinshaw and Richard J. Welch.

In appealing to Krug and Elliott to release more cloth for women's slacks, the California lawmakers make the unqualified statement:

"The use of slacks and slack suits will help to conserve rayon piece goods, because when a woman wears slacks or a slack suit she usually does not wear a slip, a girdle, or stockings!"

I HAVE always contended that knowledge is a fine thing, but it seems—after digesting the Congressional Record's offering—there should be a place to draw the line.

I tried repeatedly to get hold of Representative Douglas—figuratively I mean—to ask how much she had spilled.

But she is a very difficult lady to get hold of. They told me she had just dashed out to get a train for New York, but that there was no use trying to reach her in Manhattan because she was just going to halt long enough to make a speech and then rush some other place to deliver another oration.

I asked when she was expected back and was told:

"It might be any time."

I MANAGED to contact Representative Voorhis, but I will not bore you with the details. Mr. Voorhis insisted on giving a long, technical disquisition on the slack situation—completely ignoring all questions as to how he became so well informed on the slip and girdlelessness.

MR. GEORGE GODDARD, the food expert, telephoned Maurice Hutton, head of the British Food Purchasing Commission, the other day. Mr. Hutton was not in, and Mr. Goddard asked if he might leave word for him to call back.

"I don't know," said a dubious British voice. "What was it you desired to talk to Mr. Hutton about?"

"Food," said Mr. Goddard, succinctly.

"Oh!" was the reply, "in that case—I will see he gets the message!"

Westbrook Pegler is taking his annual vacation. Meanwhile, this space will be taken by George Dixon.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 26—I had such a good time with Walter Huston at a dinner honoring the Lucius Bombers the other evening. He was in rare form and told some great stories. Walter had that day talked business with David Selznick and accepted David's offer to play the role of "Sin Killer," a Frontier preacher in "Duel in the Sun." He is the parson who reforms Jennifer Jones.

The Niven Busch story is going to have a cast lineup comparable to "Since You Went Away."

"Gone With the Wind" and other of the Selznick star-studded movies. Besides Jennifer and Walter, there is Gregory Peck, Joseph Cotten, Lionel Barrymore and Lillian Gish. Oh, yes, Tom Tully, who almost stole the show as the father in "I'll Be Seeing You," gets invited for another character role.

Jennifer Jones

Jennifer Jones

MARY PICKFORD and Sam Coslow turned a couple of good deals over the week-end. First, they had a conference with Andy Russell, Inc. (And I'm not kidding about that—more in a minute) for the singing lead in "One Touch of Venus," the Kenny Baker role on the stage. The reason I say Andy "Incorporated" is that his business affairs have been made just that by his manager, Sam Stuefel, the same gent who has incorporated Mickey Rooney. Another deal settled by Mary and Sam for the Mary Martin picture was the signing of writer

Larry Segall, who scripted "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

MARY ELIZABETH HEN-SEL, pretty little blonde who postponed her marriage to a Navy lieutenant almost on her wedding day, as they do in the movies, is going to be a movie actress. Betty, who is as pretty as a picture, has been tested for a part in "The Robe" by Mervyn Le Roy. Rumor says Betty will be the next Mrs. Cary Grant. In fact, Hollywood is going to be awfully surprised if this marriage doesn't take place. If the test turns out all right, Betty will have a role in "The Robe."

JANE WYMAN ran in to see me to tell me about the new addition to the family. He's a boy named Michael Edward and he's only a few weeks old. Jane says he's a beauty and that her little 4-year-old daughter, Maurine, is out of her mind about her baby brother and Ronnie, Major Reagan, is also crazy about him. My favorite doctor has been asked to be the godfather. Jane is still not well after her attack radio broadcast now called she says, suddenly leaves her.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The Anne Baxter-John Hodiak romance is a thing of the past. John goes into the Army on March 27. I am told the thing back of the breakup was Anne's mother's continued disapproval. He's carrying the torch because he was pretty crazy about Anne, but it seems most of her guys are that way. Bill Eythe has never gotten Anne out of his system.

THE GOLDENS, Father Eddie and son Bob, who cleaned up on that small budget picture, "Hitler's Children," are going out of the Nazi business. They've formed a producing company to be known as Golden Pictures, with Sam Denbrow, former vice-president of Paramount. Their first picture will be "Breakfast in Hollywood," based on the Tom Breneman radio broadcast now called "Breakfast at Sardi's," and very popular. Let me add Breneman will play himself in the film and no doubt the broadcast scenes will be filmed in his own cafe, which he just bought on Vine st.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLY-

Boston American, Mar. 26—21

WOOD COLLECTED A FAN-LOM: The romance between Walter Pidgeon's daughter Edna and Larry Risher, publisher, is all over. Walter has a great liking for Larry but thought there was too great a difference in ages; the Freddie Fredricks welcomed a daughter, Diane Katherine. Ilya is a wig designer at Max Factor's, and Mama was formerly in the movies; the Maj. John Huston divorce is being discussed again. The lady in John's life is Doris Lilly, show girl. George Raft has taken up with Virginia Maples where they left off months ago. He had her at the Helen Hayes show and out dancing. In New York it was Gertrude Lawrence he courted father and son; Sam H. Hoffenstein, well known writer, is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for a minor operation.

HUMPHREY BOGART and Lauren Bacall spent Sunday aboard Bogart's boat at Balboa. Wonder if it's true he's changing the name of the boat from "Sluggo" to "Bobby"? Kay Williams is back in town and there was no reconciliation with Marjorie; the Robert Walker-Florence Trickett romance may result in Bob's finally getting a divorce from Jennifer Jones; Babe Blum, Mary Livingston's sister, who was robbed of all her jewelry, furs and many of her most cherished possessions, is now living at the Jack Pennys. She and Mort Hlum came home to find the thief did a thorough job but the police know it is somebody familiar with the house.

NEW YORK, March 26 — If there's a rumor worth listening to — or even one worth laughing at — you'll hear it in this small town called New York, probably because, as one phrase-craze once declared, this island is made up of a bunch of villages as self-conscious and small-time and sentimental and easily-swayed as the most calico group that ever gathered around an Iowa cracker barrel.

Yes, this is a gossip town. Take Sutton pl., Gramercy Park, Greenwich Village, Turtle Bay, Murray Hill, Park ave. and Broadway — lump them all together on one narrow strip of land — and you've hit the rumor monger's jackpot!

And don't forget Broadway's West Coast annex, better known as Hollywood. There's a saying out there that more people at the corner of Hollywood and Vine are run down by gossip than by motor cars. (And you know those California divs!)

THE WISEST of wise-guys are the biggest gluttons for swallowing rumors whole. The bigger the whopper the tastier it is, the more solemnly it is regarded . . . Do you remember when the story went around that Jackie Cooper was really a midget? Well, he's a big boy now . . . They tried the same on Shirley Temple — her mama used to get dozens of letters a week asking why she didn't admit Shirley wasn't a six-year-old . . . There's a persistent rumor that a famous night club owner is still wanted by the police on the same old charge — G-Man Hoover has sat for many a night at his table . . . Then there's the myth that has been fostered by movie press agents which claims Lana Turner was discovered in a drugstore. Really!

THERE'S THE fable about the woman who appears every year at Valentino's tomb, on the anniversary of his death. She's supposed to be a famous star of another era — but she always wears a thick veil, and no one's ever noted any resemblance to any noted femme fatale . . . Most people listen to the rumors that Greta Garbo will soon sign a radio contract (she never will) and the same people believe she's unpatriotically reluctant to contribute to war charities, when actually she's given more to the Red Cross and other war agencies than almost any other screen star. A gay fable contends that Olivia de Havilland and Joan Fontaine are deadly rivals, and that Olivia was sorrowful when her sister snagged her best beau, Brian Aherne . . . There's a rumor that Charlie Chaplin is a great intellectual, which got him invited to the same luncheons as Aldous Huxley for years . . . The fan magazines have fostered a myth which would have you believe that Betty Hutton just adores Dorothy Lamour, and that Dottie thinks Betty couldn't be sweeter. Actually they have both hinted privately to Paramount that they'd like to get as happy if they never found themselves playing in the same picture as long as they both live and curl their eyelashes.

NEWSPAPERS are sometimes guilty of spreading unfounded rumors. A few years ago the papers carried the headlines: "DEWEY SMASHES NUMBERS RACKET" — and on the back pages of the same gazettes they ran the winning number for the day! . . . George Raft's rumored interest in growing to be a legend — but did you ever hear him speak above a whisper? As for Raft's "body-guard," Killer Gray, he got his nickname not via homicide, but because he always laughs at his own jokes and says, "That's a killer!" . . . Errol Flynn is supposed to be a smoothie with the ladies. His approach is about as suave as a fire-ax.

George Holland Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: In his own Valhalla, guarded no doubt by St. Patrick, the late and lamented David J. Breen of Boston's Cherry Cove must be hearing the stories that are going around about his favorite and only nephew, Lt. William (Billy) O'Connell, 6th Ranger Battalion, Sixth Army (Gen. Walter Krueger commanding) . . . And David, or Breen as he was known to very proud, very fond,

LT. O'CONNELL has been awarded the Silver Star for heroism in his indomitable outfit's release of 511 prisoners from Cabanatuan, and if that identification of a prison camp is unfamiliar to a public staggered by the fast-moving events of our military, it will be recalled quickly enough as the Ranger operation that sprung out of the Luzon campaign and freed the first American prisoners ever released from Japanese custody.

BILLY O'CONNELL, we have learned, was in command of the platoon that crashed the main gate of the Cabanatuan stockade . . . In the vanguard of his men, he gave the orders which made the charge successful . . . His pal and fellow officer, Capt. Robert W. Prince of Seattle, is in Boston . . . A graduate of Stanford in the class of '41, Capt. Prince moved into the Army immediately after graduation, as a result of R. O. T. C. training while in college . . . Capt. Prince has just been awarded the D. S. C. . . . He and his commanding officer, Col. Henry Mower of Bridgeport, were honored identically . . . Lt. O'Connell's award was in lesser degree only because that is the manner in which Army awards are bestowed . . . The enlisted men who participated in that spectacular raid — for instance — were given Bronze Stars, all 121 of them . . . (Except for the two men killed.)

PERHAPS the fact that only two of the heroic 121 were killed, and that only three were wounded or injured, is news . . . Casualties were supposed to be larger . . . Among the latter was Capt. Prince . . . "What made us most proud," said Capt. Prince, at the Budd's Club, "was that not one of the rescued Americans was hurt . . . We were able to convey all 511 of them the 22 miles to safety . . . Then we rejoined our lines . . . The raid was a success only because the Filipino guerrillas knew that country like a map-reader knows yellow paint . . . Our chief fear was that we would be ambushed . . . But the guerrillas threw a block around the prison camp . . . The Jap intelligence was bad, I guess . . . Anyway, we got through . . . I think I should mention that the Jap lines were spread out, or fluid . . . Boston will be proud of Billy O'Connell when he gets back . . . He got a tough break . . . He and two other lieutenants, including Lt. John Francis Murphy of Springfield, a graduate of Notre Dame, matched three coins to determine which of the three would go home . . . The winner was a lieutenant named Schmidt — who comes from New Orleans."

CAB DRIVERS — or some of them — are going for the old "steer dodge" . . . A Chinese restaurant and a notorious clip joint are benefiting at the company's expense. Oldest of the cab companies, this one made its reputation by having no axes to grind.

GUS VAN IS SO GOOD a showman that the Rio Casino is being filled with nostalgia, good will — and customers . . . When Gus sings "For Me and My Gal," the song which he and his late partner Joe Shenck introduced, the house breaks out in an uproar . . . It is interesting to hear the youngsters join the chorus . . . Recommended: Lobster Diavolo at Freda's, in Hanover st. . . . And the Grotto for the same street! Italian roast coffee . . . For husbands: The shop in Newbury st. where, for $30, you may purchase the fanciest lingerie on sale in Boston . . . It is open after merchandising hours.

These Days

Copyright, 1945, King Features Synd., Inc.
IT IS to be hoped that the American people never understand war as Europeans do it war is to mean dictatorship and tyranny.

This country has been in many wars, including the war between the States, which lasted long and took its toll of dead, but this country did not suffer dictatorship or tyranny.

Great Britain has been in many prolonged wars without succumbing to dictatorship or tyranny. It is the genius of the Anglo-Saxon peoples to win wars without losing their liberties.

If other peoples require dictatorships to handle national emergencies, that is their misfortune. There can be no need for us to emulate their miseries.

All of this leads me to a consideration of the new doctrine of government by request which has developed in Washington during this war. The fact is that Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover and Bernard M. Baruch practiced it during the last war with outstanding success. They believed in voluntary popular participation in wartime limitations. For instance, Mr. Hoover called for a voluntary self-abnegation from the consumption of sugar and left it to the housewives and neighbors to enforce the law, by social, rather than legal pressures. It was a successful operation.

Mr. Baruch called together those actually engaged in the production of a commodity, set the problem before them and they worked out the limitations within the industry.

It was a successful request, because it was based upon mutual confidence. The Administration trusted the producers; the producers trusted the Administration.

IN THIS WAR an effort has been made to police the American people through governmental agencies, often called bureaucracies, which formulated regulations and penalties. Many of these regulations have been irksome and impractical and often disregarded special local problems.

The result is an astonishingly large black market and a resistance to governmental requests.

Mr. Byrnes meets precisely that spirit in New York in relation to his curfew. Not only has the speaker returned, but the mayor, who has usually supported Washington wholeheartedly, was forced by circumstances, all on his own, to postpone the curfew for an hour.

Had Washington appealed to the people, explaining precisely what the purpose of the curfew is, most New Yorkers, whose children and relatives are in the war, would have done their best.

But they ignored two special conditions of life in this city: One, the large employment of night workers, probably as high as half a million men and women; two, the fact that this city is the largest playground for soldiers, sailors, Marines and all sorts of war workers who come here for relaxation, preferably at night, but who have no homes in this city.

IT WOULD have been simpler if New York were declared out of bounds than to impose the curfew which places burdens impossible to solve upon the police and the transportation system.

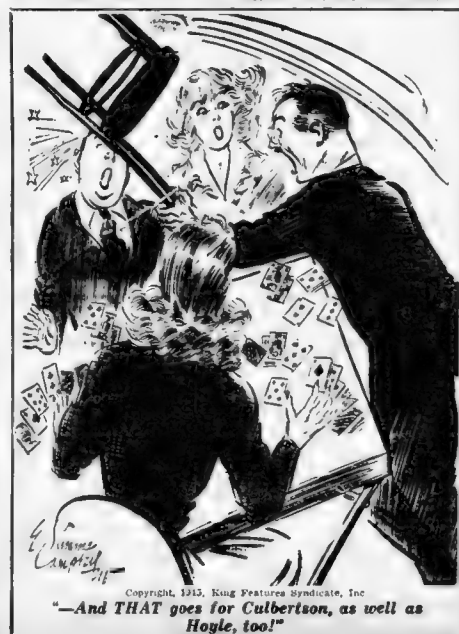

A "request" with teeth in it does NOT work.
A request for voluntary cooperation to accomplish a specific objective always will work among Americans who are not such untrustworthy folks, after all.

Delicious Sauces

By MARTHA LEE

SAUCES TO BE SERVED over simple cakes, puddings, custards or ice cream are coming into their own in our dessert plans these days. Their shortened time and sugar requirements are reason enough for their popularity. The following honey fruit sauce is intended to be served over cup cakes or your own favorite cottage pudding, and it's fine for a quick dessert of bakery pound or sponge cake, too.

HONEY FRUIT SAUCE

1½ cups pear nectar
½ cup honey
2 tsp. cornstarch
Even mmm salt
1 tsp. butter or margarine
2½ cup finely cut banana
Combine nectar, honey, cornstarch, salt, and butter in a saucepan and stir to blend. Bring to a boil and cook and stir until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; cool. Add banana and stir until thoroughly blended. Serve over plain cake. Should be served soon after adding banana. For variation, use apricot, plum or peach nectar of the whole-fruit variety. Makes about 2½ cups.

This butter-catch sauce can be left to cook in a double boiler and does not require any watching. It will keep indefinitely in a porcelain enameled refrigerator dish.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

½ cup brown sugar
½ cup dark or light corn syrup
½ cup rich milk
3 tsp. butter or margarine
Combine all ingredients, stir well and place in the top part of a porcelain enameled double boiler. Allow to cook for 30 minutes. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

The smooth, creamy texture of these luscious sauces will make them your favorite request.

MOLASSES SAUCE

2 cups molasses
2 tsp. melted butter or margarine
½ tsp. ginger or grated orange rind
½ cup cream or evaporated milk
Combine molasses, butter or margarine, ginger and cream and bring to a vigorous boil. Boil to 225 deg. F. about 2 minutes. Cool and keep in closed container in refrigerator. Serve hot or cold over puddings, gingerbread, custard, ice cream, waffles, etc.

MOLASSES SOFT CUSTARD

1 egg, well beaten
½ cup cornstarch
2 cups milk
1 tsp. molasses
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tsp. sugar
Combine egg, salt, sugar, cornstarch and molasses. Stir in milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Cook 5 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Cool slightly. Add vanilla. Chill and serve over puddings and fruits.

VANILLA SAUCE

1 tsp. cornstarch
½ cup cold water
½ cup salt
½ cup boiling water
1 cup white corn syrup
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla extract
Dash of nutmeg
Combine cornstarch, cold water and salt in a saucepan, and stir until smooth. Then stir in gradually the boiling water and corn syrup, and simmer five minutes. Add butter, vanilla and nutmeg. Serve hot over puddings. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

Make vanilla sauce, increasing cornstarch to 1½ tsp. and adding 1 tsp. grated lemon rind to cornstarch mixture before cooking. Substitute 3 tsp. lemon juice for the vanilla extract.

Fashion

SWEET AND LOVELY for lurch and honeymoon... this demure evening gown, with its many change-about possibilities. Wear it with the starched peplum blouse or interchangeably with other pet blouses or jackets. A crisp, butcher-type fabric of Eastman crimped acetate rayon... makes the girlishly full dancing skirt and its pert youthful bodice top... a sprightly affair for a jaunty junior.—R. M.

tract. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

HONEY HARD SAUCE

1-3 cup butter or margarine
½ to 1 cup honey
Work the butter with a spoon until fluffy and creamy. Gradually beat in honey with a spoon. Serve with hot puddings. Serve any leftover on hot biscuits or griddle cakes.

Print Sleeves Latest Mode

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SLEEVES OF printed material set in a one-color dress make striking entries in the spring styles, and among the most original are Jo Copeland's scarf sleeves. She uses precious pure silk scarves to make these sleeves and they do give light and charm to sober dresses, as you can see by looking at her model in our sketch.

This is a simple black crepe dress which Jo Copeland makes very slim at the waistline and with a skirt having soft fullness from unpressed pleats at the front.

Pastel blue and white pure silk scarves make the sleeves, which are very short and wide and knitted on top of the shoulders.

The waist has a very deep V-shaped neckline.

Gain Facial Loveliness

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THERE'S NOTHING like spring to arouse a woman's peacock instincts. Perhaps it's the extra sparkle of romance in the air. Or better still... those flowery chaquo and gay splashy prints that make us feel so downright devastating. Whatever the reason... all of us want to flaunt our prettiness these days as never before.

It's easy to do... too... if you'll give your face as much attention as that new Easter bonnet... since no amount of make-up will create the fresh spring loveliness you crave... unless the complexion beneath it is receptive to its flattery. And no skin that isn't marble-smooth and chiton-soft can make this claim.

It's no joy to live with a porous countenance... a haunting reflection every time you gaze into the mirror to stir your subconsciousness with the lingering accusation of neglect and diffidence. You may say... what's the use of trying? A face is a face for all that... and my friends like me beautiful or not. Glamor is not for me... I'm just a simple Sue.

True enough... personality is paramount... but it's ten to one the girl with the infectious personality is the gal with the irresistibly lovely complexion. And while comparisons are odious and there isn't a jealous bone in your body... there does come a time when you are forced to sit up and take notice... like trying on hats and seeing the mirrored reflection of a sight that sends you shivering with disgust away from feminine finery... like seeing your best friend whom you know is two or three years your senior... look 8 or 10 years your junior... because she cares for her face and the charming picture she presents.

YOUNGER AND LOVELIER

No cosmetic is going to make your face overnight. But sincere and faithful application of a specific-pore cosmetic... like a pore refining cream... can do a lot towards making you look lovelier... softening that skin that needs renovation so badly. Then see if you don't feel younger and lovelier.

This pore-refining cream has been heaven-sent to the office girl who runs my copy. Not only has it done a near-magical job on her complexion... but the way she looks has given her a new lease on the youth she has... an incentive to hold facial charm... but she looks like a made-over cherub... bright and radiant and a beautiful young lady.

For the name of this pore-refining cream, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LET YOUR FACE be a harbinger of spring... bright and radiant and gay as the season's flowers... and treat your complexion to a wonderful pore-refining cream for facial loveliness as charming and complimentary to Easter finery as Warner star Joan Leslie's fond facial frankness. There's no beauty trick in complexion perfection... it entails sincere and faithful attention.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY—It was very pleasant going through the White House, on Friday, with a subcommittee of the Fine Arts Commission. They have some plans they want to carry out in the future when the war is over; but in the meantime they said very firmly that they do not like the wood baskets.

I haven't the remotest idea, however, what kind of containers I can use, since the restrictions on materials make it difficult to find receptacles which will hold logs of wood in these formal rooms.

In the winter a fire in the Red Room or the Green Room occasionally makes all the difference between cold formality and warmth and welcome.

OUR GUESTS, the Governor-General of Canada and his wife, Princess Alice, have found Washington very beautiful. I am so glad they came at this time of year, which really is a perfect time.

They saw Mr. Vernon, Arlington and the National Gallery, and when they came in at 5 o'clock for tea they were really exhausted sightseers. A few of their friends came in to greet them, and then in the evening we had a small dinner, ending up with a family chat in the President's study.

Saturday morning they were off again to see the sights, and then lunched with Undersecretary of State and Mrs. Joseph C. Grew. At 3:30 we took them to their train.

Their visit has given us an opportunity to express our appreciation of the welcome which they have always extended to us, and I hope it has given them pleasure.

I WAS HAPPY on Friday afternoon to see Miss Molly Flynn again, who is now working with UNRRA, and is back after some months in Egypt. Copyright, 1945, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Flavor

IN WHITING'S HOMOGENIZED
VITAMIN D MILK!

Here's popularity that's easy to understand... once you taste the richer, creamier, flavor of Whiting's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. The reason? It's homogenized... the cream is evenly, uniformly distributed right to the last drop in the bottle. In cooking, too, you can actually taste the better flavor it gives to your favorite dishes. This Fish and Shrimp Newburg recipe, a favorite with Marjorie Mills, famed household expert, is a perfect example. Give your family the added enjoyment and nourishment of Whiting's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. Home delivered or at better grocers'.

WHITING'S

HOMOGENIZED Vitamin D
MILK

FISH WITH SHRIMP NEWBURG SAUCE

Recipe by Marjorie Mills

2 cups boned and flaked cooked white fish
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups Whiting's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk

1½ cup sherry
2 egg yolks
Salt and pepper
1 cup cooked, cleaned shrimp

Arrange flaked fish in greased baking dish. Melt butter, add flour, blend, add milk and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add sherry. Add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten egg yolks, mix well, and return to remaining hot sauce. Cook 1 minute, while stirring. Add salt and pepper. Pour over flaked fish, and arrange shrimp over the top. Bake in a 350 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

OFF TO honeymoon at Pinehurst, N. C., are Sgt. and Mrs. Ernest Lendrum Johnson of Newtonville who were married Saturday evening by candlelight in the Belmont Methodist Church. The bride is the former Grace M. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Johnson of Belmont, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. H. Johnson of Newtonville.

Sgt. Johnson, who attended General Motors Institute of Technology, is in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Last week he finished his flight engineering training in Ontario. His bride is a graduate of Lasell. Given in marriage by her father, she wore a charmingly lace veil belonging to the groom's mother with her wedding gown of scalloped ivory satin, and carried sweet peas and lilies.

Mrs. Alfred R. Meyer, Jr.

Her sister, Betty Johnson, a maid of honor, wore elbow length gloves of aqua with her white tulle gown and the bridesmaids were in yellow and aqua tulle with spring flowers. They were Mrs. Alfred R. Meyer, Jr., whose emcee husband was best man Shirley Armstrong, Alberta Carson and Barbara Johnson.

A GAY REUNION of Bostonians who have lived in Hawaii will take place at the Women's City Club tomorrow morning when Mrs. Alice Cooper Bailey of Weston, will show color movies and slides of Honolulu recalling the lush exotic beauties of the islands which were her home before her marriage.

Following the lecture, Mrs. Edward Bowditch Watson (Harna Luck), a native of Hawaii, will give a sherry party for Mrs. Bailey, followed by luncheon at the club. Guests with strong family ties in Hawaii will include Mrs. James Pine, Mrs. Bailey's sister, Mrs. Charles Stoddard, Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. Lawson Hill, Mrs. W. N. NOT SINCE "Oklahoma!" has interest been as keen in a new musical production as in "Carousel," fifth play in the Theater Guild-American Theater Society subscription season, which opens at the Colonial tomorrow evening. First nighters at this brilliant springtime event will include Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Ballou, Mrs. John W. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Badger, Jr., Mrs. S. Bruce Black, Mrs. Henry F. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powers, Mrs. David J. Evans, Mrs. C. Christian Born, Mrs. Halfdan Lee, Mrs. Henry H. Freeman, Mrs. John Gorham Palfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Toppin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sullivan and many other fashionable Theater Guild subscribers.

WITH THE SHORTAGE of help and the co-operation of the weatherman, socialite garden enthusiasts have rolled up their sleeves and set to work getting their grounds in order for spring. Glimpsed raking leaves and uncovering tiny bulb shoots in her Chestnut Hill garden the other day, Mrs. Charles Blake was a little figure in bright blue slacks and yellow sweater. Also out in their yards were Mrs. John Hodgson of Penniman rd., Mrs. Henry Newell, Mrs. Donald Warren, Mrs. Ronald Cordingley, Mrs. Hamilton Edwards and Mrs. Buchanan Charles of Cambridge.

A cartoon illustration of a woman in a white dress and a man in a suit running away from a large, dark, shadowy figure in a room. The woman is shouting, "SHET VORE TATER-TRAP MAW!!". The scene is set in a room with a fireplace and a table. The woman is running towards the left, and the man is running towards the right. The shadowy figure is in the background, looking towards the running couple. The woman's expression is one of panic. The man's expression is one of fear. The shadowy figure's expression is one of a wide, toothy grin. The overall tone of the illustration is humorous and slightly scary.

Cronin at Short, Third Seen as Sox Batters Flop

By JOE CASHMAN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 26—It's all very well for Joseph Edward Cronin to speak of Jack Tobin as the probable Red Sox shortstop this year, but unless the Skipper goes into a tailspin in a hurry he won't be able to give the job to anybody except himself.

After two intra-club games, Boss Fox boasts the most dazzling record of anybody in the Hot camp.

He's been to bat six times. He's bashed out two homers, two doubles and a single. He's knocked in four runs. He's handled ten chances without an error.

Tobin hasn't done a badly.

After going last one game, young Jack came up with a double and single yesterday. And he's handled himself creditably. All the same, the rookie has been completely overshadowed by his manager, who is 15 years his senior.

Pete Fox

After going last one game, young Jack came up with a double and single yesterday. And he's handled himself creditably. All the same, the rookie has been completely overshadowed by his manager, who is 15 years his senior.

On the other hand, all the boys are facing the same kind of hurling, and the head man has given each and every one of his charges lessons in how to stroke the ball.

Bob Johnson has connected for two round-trippers, but he has nothing more to show after six tries, save a scratch single. Pete Fox has been content with a homer and single in six efforts.

Two singles represent Leon Culberson's hit total. Ben Steiner had made just one safety and that a fluke. Nick Polly and Johnny Lazor have yet to break into the hit column.

CRONIN has been the club's big siege gun. As long as he continues to be, he must be regarded as a possibility for a regular berth after three seasons of comparative idleness. If not a shortstop, then at third base.

We might add first base, too, with George Metkovich still among the missing. It happens, however, that George McBride looms up stronger every day as the guy who'll guard the initial sack, if and when Metko isn't at the post.

"Mac" is currently holding down the bag for the regulars, and he looks like a natural, which is more than can be said of his occasional appearances in the outfield during the past two seasons.

The erstwhile Little Rock and Louisville flycatcher never shaped up as a big leaguer either as a hitter or fielder when used in the garden.

As a first sacker, he has real class defensively and, in the two tilts to date, he's running second to Cronin with the stick. He's rapped out a triple, double and two singles in five trips to the platter.

Harry Lumley Immense As Wings Top Bruins, 3-2

By BILL GRIMES

Boston's fighting Bruins rested today for a desperate attempt to knock over the Red Wings in the Garden tomorrow night in the fourth game of the Stanley Cup playdowns. Victory would give the Rossmen a three-to-one edge in games and send them to Detroit for the fifth conflict with a good chance to end the series in the Motor City without coming back to the Boston Garden to wind up the semifinals next Sunday night.

Another duel of goalies seems in the cards for tomorrow, with Wing rookie Harry Lumley finally hitting his top form and Paul Bibeault of the B's likewise turning in brilliant work in the nets.

Unable to shake off the jinx which has hovered over home teams in this Stanley Cup series the Bruins went down to a 3 to 2 defeat here.

Lumley and Bibeault were outstanding. During the games in Detroit, Lumley, who only recently celebrated his 19th birthday, was a victim of Stanley Cup jitters, on enough occasions to make it possible for the Rossmen to come up with two victories.

"Is there a chance that Norm Smith will be in the nets to-night?" I asked Manager Happy Jack Adams yesterday noon.

"Not a chance in the world," was Happy Jack's reply. "We'll sink or swim with Lumley in the nets. As you know, he's a far better goalie than he was at home. Goal minding in a Stanley Cup series is tough on veterans. The pressure is terrific. I appreciated how Lumley felt. But, there was nothing I could do about it. He had to snap himself out of his jitters. He's a great goalie. He's going to replace one of the best. If I replaced him, the chances are that I'd run him. And, bear in mind, as jump as he was in Detroit, the Bruins were lucky to beat us."

Lumley didn't have the jitters last night. An even 30 Bruins shots were on Lumley. He missed only two. And, a large majority of his 28 saves were positively sensational.

While "Flash" Hollett was serving a penalty in the second period, young Lumley was really on the spot. If ever a goalie was given the old acid test, it was Lumley during those two minutes. The Bruins ganged up on Lumley. But, they couldn't beat him. And, they had their top scorers doing the snipping. Herbie Cain, Bill Cowley and Bill Jennings fired shot after shot but to no avail. Each had at least two shots at the kid but Lumley kicked them all aside.

Although possibly he wasn't the victim of an intense barrage as the Bruins laid down on Lumley, Bibeault could and would have emerged a winner but for the two goals his mates presented to the Red Wings.

With five seconds to go in the first period, Pat Egan attempted to carry the puck out. When he was about ten feet out and only slightly off center of the Boston cage, Murray Armstrong, who turned in another grand performance, stole the puck and flipped it into the net for the second Detroit tally.

Then, in the final chapter, Kenney Smith just missed intercepting a pass up intended for "Mud" Bruneteau. He just got a piece of the puck. But, before he could get control, "Mud" had it and was off for the Boston end. "Smitty" chased him and they raced along neck and neck until the Detroit veteran rifled a shot, which apparently Bibeault didn't see. It was the game.

Due to the absence of Syd Howe, who is through for the year, with a shoulder separation, Adams shook up his forward lines. And, then he jockeyed around until he had McAtose, Armstrong and Bruneteau played against the Cowley line. His strategy paid off. The Bruins' high scoring line went pointless.

The Bruins and Red Wings will meet in the fourth game tomorrow night. It will be another battle. Then, after playing the fifth game in Detroit, the teams will be back at the Boston Garden next Sunday night.

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT HAIR CARE

Our professional business is, in simple English the care and treatment of the hair and scalp. First of all, let me be very blunt and say very simply but emphatically that we do not and cannot re-grow hair. And as far as we have been able to determine neither can anyone else. Secondly, we wish to make it quite plain that our only function is to provide men and women with a simple, sensible and effective method of treating the hair and scalp so as to keep it healthy, alive and attractive.

The some three thousand men and women who visit our offices each week are people whom we sincerely believe can be helped. These clients know how we work and how effective our work is or they would not continue to come to us for treatment.

The best evidence of our integrity is to visit one of our offices to experience for yourself how we work. There is no charge or obligation for a private examination and consultation. If you decide then to take treatment, the decision is entirely yours. We employ no salesmen. Our treatments are at your convenience and the modest fee we charge is payable only when you take a treatment.

The next best evidence of our integrity is to discuss the Warner method of hair and scalp control with any man or woman who has been a client of ours. Hours: Monday, Wednesday and Friday 11:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

The Boston offices are located Suite 320, Little Building, Corner of Boylston and Tremont Streets, In Providence, 704 New Industrial Trust Bldg., in Hartford, 750 Main St.

Ross Expects Breaks Tomorrow

Pres. Red Dutton of the N. H. L. was obliged to cancel his trip here. He was in Toronto Saturday night and wired that he was obliged to stay over in the Queen City on important business, which may have something to do with the presidency of the N. H. L. Major Conn Smythe is the latest to climb on the "Dutton for President" bandwagon.

Lester Patrick, boss of the New York Rangers, is pinch hitting for Pres. Dutton. Along with the other league officials, Patrick is stopping at the Statler.

"King" Clancy, who officiated last night, will leave for Toronto this afternoon. Bill Chadwick, who was the spare referee for the third game, will handle tomorrow's contest. He almost saw action last night when the "King" stopped a puck with his knee cap in the first period.

"They had luck, which carried us to victory in the first game," declared Manager Art Ross after the game. He is confident that the Bruins will get enough breaks tomorrow to again take over a two game lead.

There were 13,500 fans in the Garden last night. As many more were unable to buy tickets. It will be the same story tomorrow and again on Sunday.

Large John Wilkinson, who was with the Bruins as a defenseman, at the start of last season, came down from Ottawa to attend both games. He's still a rabid Boston rooter.

Mrs. Mike McGerry, of Detroit, and her two sons, Pete, who is 14 and Mike, age 12, made the trip with the Red Wings. Little Mike is the team mascot.

Mike Karakas, the Blackhawks' goalie, almost missed out on a couple of tickets. He had asked "Dir" Clancy to get him a couple when the Bruins were in Chicago on their last trip of the regular season. "Dir" due to the excitement of making the play-offs and taking two games in Detroit, forgot to make the reservations. But, Mike nailed him at the press gate and "Dir" managed to dig up a couple.

"Lefty" LeFebvre, the Washington Senators' hurler, was at the game in an Army uniform. He was supposed to join Clark Griffith's team last week at the University of Maryland training camp, but his draft board grabbed him when he quit his winter job. He was inducted on Saturday.

Normie Smith is here with the Red Wings. But, he will not don the pads unless Harry Lumley is incapacitated. For weeks, Norm has been working out with the Red Wings in Detroit, and according to reports is just as good as he was in the old days.

Gino Rozzini and Armand Gaudreault did another swell job killing off Bill Jennings' first period penalty. We marvel at their uncanny ability to hold opponents in check, when the Bruins are a man shy.

The Red Wings didn't give Bill Cowley many chances to shine. They ganged up on him all night. He took a number of solid checks during the course of the evening.

Tony Bukovich, who is better than the average semi-pro pitcher, filled in for Syd Howe. He has had a couple of offers to play in the International League, but refuses to give up his war berth.

Gillenwater Cinch For Braves Outfield

By HUCK FINNEGAN

WASHINGTON, March 26—As the Braves left for Ft. Belvoir and their 4 p. m. game with the Senators today, the thought came to mind that the center fielder on this 1945 Braves team will be a man who hasn't played an inning at the position all spring. That would be Carden Gillenwater, purchased from Brooklyn over the winter.

Gillenwater played short in the Intra-Squad games last week. He played right field in the Braves' 2-1 Sunday victory over the Senators at College Park, Md. The classy manner in which he patrolled his post proves he can play any of the outfield positions, and his long distance clouting gives him a distinct edge on the fleet-footed Bill Ramsey.

Gillenwater batted No. 4 for the Braves, as he did when he hit 19 homers for St. Paul last year, and combed knuckleballer Emil Leonard for a double and triple. His double scored Shupe from first but ground rules (the crowd fringed the playing field) held Shupe on third.

He made two nice clutches off George Binks, one in the seventh, stalling a rally which threatened to give the Nats the decision. His work was all the more noticeable because Binks looked like a bushy on Jim Wallace's ninth-inning double. In other words, if the teams had switched rightfielders, Washington would have won the game.

Ramsey played center for the Braves. He can go get 'em, no question. And he's as fast as George Case. But he doesn't hit that long ball like Gillenwater, and his .278 average at Sacramento probably is attributable more to his speed than batting ability. (He left the Coast League in stolen bases—43.)

It is early to count Stan Wentzel out of the running because surely one exhibition game doesn't make a season; yet he doesn't possess the sparkle of either Gillenwater or Ramsey—as of March 25.

So a long range prediction would be that the Braves will open the season with Holmes in left, Gillenwater in center and either Neiman or Workman in right. There's no harm in that, even though that power may not show itself every day.

Ramsey will prove valuable. He's a genius defensively and on the base-paths. By using him in late innings in tight games, the Braves can benefit greatly. And if he should hit. No, it isn't in the books that a club can pick up two outstanding gardeners in a war year.

There's speed on this Braves' club. Few double plays will be completed against them with Ramsey, Gilly and Shupe racing to first base. . . . Wallace was the winning pitcher, Wolff the loser. Wallace helped himself immensely by forcing Butka at second on Arago's intended sacrifice. His throw to second took Moxie. But it was right on the beam. Then he helped himself to victory by leading off the ninth with a double and scoring on infield out. Case got three hits but Wallace stopped him. Everybody on the Braves is agreed the kid can pitch. And he's been "way since '42."

Said Umpire Tom Dunn:

"Cozart's curve was consistently over the plate. His fast ball gave him trouble." Cozart pitched the fifth, sixth, seventh, walked the first man up each inning. . . . Hutchings, who hurled the first four frames, can hit. So can Cozart and Wallace. And so can Jim Tobin, as all know. Thus the Braves have four hitting pitchers

New Stars Coming

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Bob Quinn sees little hope for big league players now in service ever regaining their pre-war form. Said Quinn at the club's Georgetown training base:

"Three, four and even five years in service will have developed in servicemen new sets of muscles necessary for war but lacking the skillful co-ordination so vital for a big leaguer."

. . . Cardoni and Petty were to work today's game at Belvoir. . . . Shupe is playing grand ball at first base. As said before, Joe Mack will have a job on his hands displacing the youngster. . . . The Sunday crowd of 5000 spread down the foul lines and around the outfield. The people want baseball. Said one Washington official:

"If this game had been played in Griffith Stadium, it would have drawn 15,000."

Reddish Run Sets Marathoners Agoing

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Just in case you aren't convinced that spring is actually here, the merry madcaps of sports—the marathoners—will get their abbreviated local season underway Saturday afternoon with a record entry list in the 37th renewal of the Reddish 10-mile road race over the battered pavements of Jamaica Plain, Roslindale—and West Roxbury.

They'll try off for a week before piling into the 10-mile run of the Cathedral Club in final tune-ups for the annual B. A. A. affair, to be followed by the North Medford Club breeze.

And again this year, entries from servicemen will be overshadowing the fields. Lt. Ralph Colson of the Boston Navy Yard has requested a pile of blanks for his boys, following the example set by the recreation officers at the Fargo Building and Camp Devens. They'll be sending their usual lengthy lists of hopefuls to add color and competition to the handicap event.

The Reddish officials have been assured of at least one scratch man in this plot—Clayton Farrar, classy Coast Guard pace-setter. Farrar, without a handicap this year, walked away with every type of prize that was offered in this event, winning the race, the time trophy and the cup for being the first serviceman to cross the finish line.

Farrar will be the object of the big chase this year, and if he's up to last year's form, he'll have to be reckoned with in the April 19 grid.

Farrar's ton come in, in the first compilation of entries, will

Chicago Sends Champions Here

Three Chicago C. Y. O. Golden Gloves champions, a Michigan State title holder and an entire team of eight champions from the District of Columbia, are the entries announced yesterday by Tournament Director "Tam" Sheehan of the big A. A. U. Boxing Show, the "Championship of Champions" to be held at Boston Garden next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Present indications point to the 1945 list of entries for national competition being on a par with any of those offered to New England boxing fans during the past 10 years.

Chicago C. Y. O. representatives have always shown to great advantage every time they have boxed in Boston, and according to the Catholic Youth authorities in the Windy City the three young men who will display their punching power here next week are the "top dogs."

The list includes Joe Plummer, Jr., a slashing, shifty, two-fisted bantamweight who has rung up an enviable record in the Central West during the past season. His sole ambition is to win a national A. A. U. title, which is the only championship that means anything worth while.

The Catholic Youth color bearer in the 135 pounds class will be Lloyd Watts, who hits with terrific force and has won himself a list of k. o.'s a yard long. Watts is very clever foot, a fine boxer and packs loads of power in both hands.

The boy on the C. Y. O. team who will be watched closer than any is young Abe Lee, a Chinese youngster, who has been the hit of every C. Y. O. team he has been a member of. Young Lee boxes at 147 pounds and according to experts in and around Chicago is the cleverest young amateur ever to come out of that section of the country. He can box, punch with the best of them, and can take it and come back for more.

According to Charlie Brennan, Michigan amateur committee vice-chairman of national affairs, Herome Mekler, the featherweight from Detroit, is the boy to beat for the title in this division.

be furnished by a pair of U. S. Navy road-men. Former national champion Charlie Robbins, attached to the Chelsea Naval Hospital, and Fred McGlone, physical instructor at the Bainbridge, Md., base, were among the first to submit their entries.

Lloyd Barstow, U. S. Coast Guard, and George Waterhouse, formerly with the North Medford Club but now an air cadet in Alabama, will also be shedding the blues and khakis in favor of the usual shorts.

Other early entries included a trio from the North Medford Club, Fred Brown, John Canney and Walter Childs; George Caldwell from the NYMA and Leo Giard of Randolph. They're the stars of a field that may mark the century mark when the plodders line up at 2:30.

Harry Clark of the Reddish Club has still to hear from the majority of entry blanks he sent out. . . . and Tom Haggerty of the Reddish A. A. will be passing them out to the boys this week-end. . . . it'll be the 34th annual for the South End Club. . . . North Medford may not hold its 20-mile until early in May. . . . this affair used to give the club a swell line on the BAA. . . . there will be plenty of room for dark-horse choices this season. . . . Ed Shepard, winner of the Reddish affair two years ago, is now overseas with the Army.

Firpo Tough Hurdle For Bolvin Tonight

By BILL SMITH

With everything to lose and nothing to gain, Larry Bolvin will be risking more than just a beating when he faces Pedro Firpo at Mechanics Building tonight in the feature 10-round bout of the Callahan A. C. show.

A Bolvin-Terranova contract is already on tap with Eddie Mack and Jack O'Brien and that bout, if it takes place, would result in a nice nest egg for the Providence lightweight.

There is only one obstacle to overcome and it happens to lie in the lap of Pedro Firpo, sixth ranked featherweight and 10th in lightweight class.

A shoe shine boy who made good, Pedro will be a hungry fighter when he faces Bolvin, and those battlers are hard to beat.

If he succeeds in turning back Bolvin, Firpo himself will probably move into a few choice morsels of the heavy sugar.

The Camden speedster has turned back Whistling Willie Roach and Lulu Costantino in recent starts and he can't be classed as a raw beginner off those two showings.

Bolvin, no stranger to local fight fans, fought a stirring match with Manuel Ortiz, world's bantamweight champion at Braves Field and it was only a last round rally that won Ortiz the verdict.

Larry is a steady, boring-in-fighter who seldom takes a backward step, his main asset being a constant body barrage. Firpo, it is said has the same style of attack.

Five six-round bouts complete the Callahan A. C. card and they include Johnny Priest, Cambridge, against Lew Alton, New York; Solly Zalter, New York, vs. Johnny Moran, Roxbury; Redcap Wilson, Springfield and Al Michaud, Lewiston; Lew Perez, Havana, faces Chieko Morales, Mexico City and Jeff Holloway, Atlanta, meets gloves with Willie Calhoun, Los Angeles.

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Suggestions for curbing the scoring activities of tall players were advanced by the National Association of Basketball Coaches at a meeting Sunday, but all were referred to the research committee.

Meade Set Down As He Slurs Mex.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—General manager of the Jockey Guild Jack Cleary announced yesterday that he had suspended Jockey Don Meade from the Guild.

Cleary said he took the action after a telephone conversation with Judge Edwin J. Brown, steward at the Hipodrome de las Americas, Mexico City, which Saturday set Meade down for the remainder of the racing meet there.

"I learned that no question of racing integrity was involved in Meade's suspension at the Hipodrome, but that Meade had cursed Mexicans as individuals and Mexico as a country," Cleary stated.

"No jockey who belongs to our organization can go into a friendly country and curse that country or its people," Cleary asserted. "Mexico is our friendly neighbor, co-operating with us in the war."

Cleary said that Meade will be given a Guild hearing "if and when he requests it."

Kay Winthrop Tops Longwood Seedings

Defending champion Kay Winthrop of Hamilton, was seeded second behind Mrs. Edward Ribbany of New York, in the Women's National Indoor Tennis Tournament that opened today on Longwood's covered courts.

Other outstanding players in the field of 18 were Helen Germaine and Mrs. Norma Taubele Barber of New York; Barbara Wilkins of New Rochelle, N. Y., Judy Atterbury of Wellesley College, and Mrs. Maynard M. Johnson of Brookline. All stars drew first-round byes.

Boudreau Must Reach New Peak

LA FAYETTE, Ind., March 26 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians, who has yet to pilot a peace-time club, has a hunch he will have to shortstop this season like he never shortstopped before to plug up a riddled tribe infield.

"I guess if we don't find a third baseman and a second baseman pretty quick," he declared, "I'll have to try to cover a little more ground this season." Considering that Boudreau fielded .978 for a new American League record at shortstop last season, he may need roller skates to do the trick.

The problem developed when third baseman Ken Keltner and second basemen Ray Mack and Russ Peters were summoned by their draft boards.

Now Boudreau has only a couple of class D products to toss into the breach—Al Cihocki, a Coast Guard dischargee, and Bob Rothel, who led the Pony League in batting last season with .342.

Passeau Given Nod for Opener

One of the first big league baseball clubs to give a line on their season's starting pitcher, the Chicago Cubs likely will use Claude Passeau on opening day, now less than a month away, according to the Associated Press.

Passeau, a 15-game winner last year, reported at the Cubs' French Lick, Ind., training camp yesterday and appeared in good condition.

Other training camp items: WHITE SOX—Catcher Mike Fresh and outfielder Guy Curtis reported.

A'S—First Baseman Dick Siebert whacked double and single in four times at bat as A's beat Frederick semi-pro club.

GIANTS—Southpaw Cliff Melton, a holdout, talked terms with Manager Mel Ott, but no immediate agreement was reached.

PHILLIES—Rene Monteagudo and Vance Dinges each got two hits in intra-squad game.

DODGERS—Manager Leo Durocher, who plans to play second base, muffed the first chance he had in game against Montreal, allowing two men to score.

INDIANS—Allie Reynolds, the left-hand twirler, said his arm felt better after pitching batting practice.

CARDINALS—Infielder George Blum reported as team prepared to hold first workout at Sportsman's Park, having shifted from flooded Cairo, Ill., field.

YANKEES—Outfielders Paul Taner and Russ Derry, along with catcher Mike Garbark, reported at Atlantic City camp.

PIRATES—Arranged to play exhibition game with Muncie, Ind., city team on Wednesday.

BROWNS—Outfielder Mike Kreevich signed contract, while pitcher Myron Hayworth, pitcher Weldon West and outfielder Gene Moore agreed to terms.

Gundler Hagg Is Quiet About Wedding

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (AP)—Gundler Hagg, Swedish runner, arrived here by plane yesterday en route to San Francisco after an 11-hour layover in Texas, where he was bumped from a plane by military priorities, but he declined comment on any possible wedding plans or whether the delay affected him.

TODAY'S HONOR ROLL OF CASUALTIES

"Beareth all things, believeth all things; hopeth all things; endureth all things."—(1 Corinthians 13:1)

The War Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 161 soldiers WOUNDED IN ACTION in the European and Pacific regions with next of kin residing in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine.

Next of kin in all cases have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status. In case of divergence between this list and information sent to next of kin, the last War Department telegram or letter to next of kin is the final authority on the status of a soldier.

The Navy Department, also through OWI, announced eight casualties of the Navy with next of kin residing in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.
